

CONTEMPT CASE IN SUPREME COURT

Publisher of the Idea Appeals From the Decision of Judge Christian.

MONTAGUE FOR PETITIONER

Jail Sentence in Same Case Was Suspended During Good Behavior.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
AMHERST, VA., November 19.—A petition for an appeal from the decision of Judge Frank Christian, of the Corporation Court of Lynchburg, in the contempt case of Adon A. Yoder, editor and publisher of the Idea, will be presented to the Court of Appeals in Richmond in a few days. The appeal is being prosecuted by Messrs. Montague and Montague, of Richmond, and Arthur E. Strode, of Amherst. The petition will probably be presented to the Court of Appeals in Richmond in a few days. The appeal is being prosecuted by Messrs. Montague and Montague, of Richmond, and Arthur E. Strode, of Amherst. The petition will probably be presented to the Court of Appeals in Richmond in a few days. The appeal is being prosecuted by Messrs. Montague and Montague, of Richmond, and Arthur E. Strode, of Amherst.

It is said that this case differs from the earlier case and the result will be in that the law is now different from what it was when both of these cases were decided. The Constitution now contains a clause authorizing the Legislature to suspend punishment for contempt of court, and in the season of 1904 the Legislature passed an act to this effect. It is said that when the other cases were decided there was not in existence this constitutional provision made effective by the Legislature. In his publication, the Idea, Mr. Yoder published statements derogatory of Judge Christian. After this had been reported, Judge Christian issued a rule against him, and upon the hearing of the rule, fined him $50 and gave him fifteen days in jail. The contempt case, however, was suspended during the good behavior of the defendant.

Negro Man Attacks Spouse and Another Woman and His Child.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
DANVILLE, VA., November 19.—While on a rampage yesterday night, Joe M. Smith, a young negro, assaulted his wife, Mary, and another woman, and his child. Smith, who is a member of the local police force, was arrested by the police and taken to the jail. He is now being held in the jail. The police are investigating the case.

CABBAGE SNAKE SCARE.

Colored Family Lose Their Dinner by Discovery of Reptiles.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
DANVILLE, VA., November 19.—A scare was created in a colored family here yesterday when a large number of small snakes were discovered in the kitchen. The family, who were preparing dinner, were forced to flee the kitchen. The snakes were later found to be harmless and were killed. The family is now back in the kitchen preparing dinner.

BURIED IN PHILADELPHIA

Remains of Signer of Declaration to Be Removed From Edenton.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NORFOLK, VA., November 19.—The United States Marshal here today took the body of James Wilson, signer of the Declaration of Independence, to Philadelphia for burial. The body was taken from Edenton, N.C., where it had been kept for some time. The body is now being transported to Philadelphia by rail.

S.S.S. CANCEROUS ULCERS

Whenever a sore or ulcer is slow in healing, and shows signs of eating into the surrounding flesh, it is safe to say that the blood is infected with cancerous germs. Some old taint or poison that has lain dormant awaiting a favorable opportunity to assert itself has found an outlet on the face, arms, legs or other part of the body, and the place has become inflamed and festering, and a chronic ulcer is the result. When middle age is reached or passed, and the vital powers are naturally weaker, a hurt of any kind heals slowly, and often an insignificant scratch or bruise on warty growths, moles, pimples, etc., will begin to inflame and are soon large, eating ulcers. The cancerous germs are rooted in the blood, and while salves, plasters, lotions, etc., keep the surface clean, they are useless in affecting a cure. S.S.S. cures cancerous ulcers by going down into the blood and removing the germs and poisons which produce the trouble. It cleanses the circulation of all unhealthy matter, and when the cause is removed the sore heals permanently. S.S.S. enriches and strengthens the entire blood supply, and being purely vegetable, it is a pleasant, safe remedy for young or old, and ulcers of every kind yield promptly to its curative properties. Book on sores and ulcers and medical advice free. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

WILL ASK FOR TROOPS TO PROTECT PRISONER

Assailant of Young Woman in Danger at Hands of Mob.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NORFOLK, VA., November 19.—The sheriff of Prince George county announced tonight that Governor Swanson would in all probability be called upon to furnish troops to prevent a possible lynching in the trial of John Smith on Wednesday next on the charge of having criminally assaulted Mrs. Leggett three months ago. There are already threats of a lynching, and it is feared that many citizens may make an effort to make out a mob of Smith when the revolving testimony is adduced. The feeling is now stronger against Smith than it ever has been, and should not the court deal speedily and firmly with him a mob will be ready to take him in hand. Troops will likely be asked for tomorrow. The sheriff says that he does not think that there will be any trouble at the trial, but he will ask for troops as a precautionary measure.

AN EIGHT-YEAR OLD HERO FANS OUT FLAME

The Chesapeake and Ohio to Build New Depot at Millboro.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
MILLBORO, VA., November 19.—Little James, the eight-year-old son of Mr. C. A. Lowman, of Millboro, a few nights ago displayed a heroism and presence of mind not often seen in an adult. This little fellow, with his two younger brothers and sister, and a cousin, went to their bedroom to retire. In a spirit of fun it was proposed to place the lamp on the floor and warm their feet. The little mischievous then sat down on the floor and held their feet up near the lamp. During their play the lamp was overturned, the oil ran out and the whole lamp was in an instant a mass of flames and exploded, driving the burning oil and fragments of glass all over the room. Little James did not waste his energies in joining the others in screaming, but jerked off his jacket and went heroically to work, belting the fragments of glass which pierced his feet, and by the time his parents, who, alarmed at the screams of the frightened children, had rushed the room, the danger was over. Little James had whipped out every vestige of the flames.

Had he, too, become panic-stricken and with screams ran from the room, before his father could have reached the room the fire would have been beyond control. Mr. Walter S. Edmund, who, with his family, spends his summers at Millboro and his winters in North Carolina, will leave this week for his winter quarters. He will stop over in Richmond, as is his custom, for eight or ten days.

The extremely wet weather all through the fall delayed the farmers in this section in all farm work. Many of them have just finished getting up hay, and some are not yet through seeding. The question of the confirmation of the sale of the hotel property at this place will come before court next Tuesday. The property was knocked out to Mr. J. D. Lowman, Jr., at the sale in September, but it is rumored that two or three parties will put in their bids when the question of confirmation comes before Judge Anderson Tuesday. The railway company will begin at an early date the erection of a handsome white pressed brick passenger station, with granite platform and a slate roof. The grounds will be beautified, and if the new owners of the hotel property will now do their part, this will be an ideal resting place for the weary traveler. The climate and water being the finest in the whole State. It is rumored that Mr. John Bell, a successful hotel man of long experience, will manage the Rockbridge Alum Springs coming season.

SNAKES IN HIS POCKET.

Thought Eggs Were Turtle Eggs But They Hatched Reptiles.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
FREDERICKSBURG, VA., November 19.—Mr. O. D. Pitts, a farmer of Caroline county, tells the following remarkable story: He says he was plowing with a pair of horses on his farm and turned up a nest containing what he supposed to be turtle eggs. He put them in his pocket to carry them home and experienced with them as to their hatching qualities. Some time later, when he took up his coat, he felt something moving, and, upon investigation, found that the eggs had hatched and his pocket was full of young snakes. He did not experiment any further.

INSTANTLY KILLED BY A GASOLINE ENGINE

Pumper for the Railroad Found Dead at His Post.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
CONCORD DEPOT, VA., November 19.—Mr. Thos. Edward Staples, night pumper on the Norfolk and Western Railroad, at this place, was killed here Sunday. He went on duty Saturday night, and not returning, one of his sisters went to look after him, and, about 1 o'clock, found him dead in the pump-house. He had been dead several hours. He was caught in the gasoline engine, and is supposed to have been instantly killed, both arms being broken and a large hole knocked in the side of his head. He was about sixty-five years old and unmarried. He leaves two sisters and one brother.

STORE LOOTED; SAFE ROBBED

A Tremendous Explosion Aroused the Citizens and the Fire Bells Were Rung.

A THOUSAND DOLLARS STOLEN

The Stock of Goods Damaged, Making the Owner's Loss Very Heavy.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
CLIFTON FORGE, VA., November 19.—The store of J. Warner Lewis, located in the western part of this city and in a residential section, was entered by burglars between 3 and 4 o'clock this morning, the safe blown open, and over one thousand dollars stolen. The safe is a complete wreck, and the papers and books in the safe practically destroyed. There was between one thousand and eleven hundred dollars in the safe, and the entire amount is missing. At the hour stated an alarm of fire was sounded, followed by a second alarm a few minutes later. The alarm aroused more than half the people, but as there was no blaze in sight no attention was paid to it, other than by the firemen. A family lived up over the Lewis store, and some of them say they were practically shaken out of bed. Notwithstanding the people in the neighborhood were aroused and rushed out of doors, no one can recall seeing anyone leave the store. The burglars were evidently amateurs, and some one engaged with the premises. The stock of goods was ruined, which increased Mr. Lewis's loss and makes it about two thousand dollars, all told. The police are diligently at work on the case, but so far have to chase upon which to work. Mr. Lewis is a member of the City Council and a dispatcher for the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway at this place. This robbery is the largest that has occurred here in many years, and has created a sensation.

DEATH ON THE RAIL.

Probably Caught Foot in a Frog and Slipped Under Wheels.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NORFOLK, VA., November 19.—Geo. W. Phillips, a young white man, employed as a fireman on the Seaboard Air-Line Railroad, was killed in the Seaboard yards at the shops. He started across the yard to get on an engine, and stepped into a frog. His body was found by the side of a track. His skull and shoulders were crushed, and his arm and foot broken. No one saw him fall, but it is supposed that one of his feet caught in a frog, as the heel of the shoe was pinched.

HIS HAND MANGLED.

Accidental Slip of Foot Threw Hand Into a Shredding Machine.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
ROYALTON, VA., November 19.—A. J. Kemp, a young man, was injured at the shops near Clarksville, Va. Kemp's right hand was caught in a shredding machine. He was working on a machine when he slipped, and his hand was caught in the machine. The machine shredded his hand. He is now in the hospital.

Refuses to Pay Death Claim of Young Man Killed in Chicago.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
FREDERICKSBURG, VA., November 19.—Mrs. J. A. Henderson, of this city, through her attorneys, Goodrich & Goodrich, has entered suit in the Corporation Court here against the Royal Arcanum, for $1,000. The property was knocked out to Mr. J. D. Lowman, Jr., at the sale in September, but it is rumored that two or three parties will put in their bids when the question of confirmation comes before Judge Anderson Tuesday. The railway company will begin at an early date the erection of a handsome white pressed brick passenger station, with granite platform and a slate roof. The grounds will be beautified, and if the new owners of the hotel property will now do their part, this will be an ideal resting place for the weary traveler. The climate and water being the finest in the whole State. It is rumored that Mr. John Bell, a successful hotel man of long experience, will manage the Rockbridge Alum Springs coming season.

FRESHET WASHES AWAY BRIDGE AND CULVERT

Heavy Rainfall in Neighborhood of Lynchburg Swells the James River.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
TAEZELLE, VA., November 19.—The new railroad bridge near Maxwell, over the James River, was washed away by a freshet this morning, and as a consequence there have been no through trains on the Clinch Valley to-day. The bridge is a very long one, and was only arranged to admit the transfer of express, baggage, etc. This afternoon a culvert which was being placed over the branch reparatory to filling in was washed away. The work was being done by the S. Walton Construction Company. A very heavy rain fell over the county last night and this morning and is reported to have done a great deal of damage in the Clinch Valley, destroying crops on the river bank.

Heavy Rain-Storm.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
LYNCHBURG, VA., November 19.—Lynchburg was visited by an unusually heavy rain-storm last night, the precipitation aggregating 1.5 inches, causing a rise of four feet in the James river.

DESPERATE BATTLE BY KNIFE AND PISTOL

Kyle Sumpter Probably Fatally Shot and Henry Burkholder Cut.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
CHRISTIANBURG, VA., November 19.—A serious and perhaps fatal shooting took place at Ellett, about five miles from here, when Henry Burkholder shot Kyle Sumpter shortly after dark last night. Both parties were single white men in the employ of Douglas Bros., contractors on the Tidewater Railroad, and had lived and worked together for some time. Burkholder was intoxicated yesterday, and tried to raise a difficulty with Sumpter early in the day, but the latter avoided him and went away, but his assailant followed him up late in the afternoon, making threats against his life, and fired on his victim, who was in a car. Sumpter ran out and grappled him, endeavoring to disarm him, but before he could do so Burkholder fired twice more, the last shot taking effect in the stomach. Sumpter cut his assailant several times with a knife while they were struggling over the pistol, but how badly he has not been learned. The wounded man was sent to the Tidewater Hospital at Radford for an operation. Officers searched for Burkholder to-day, but failed to locate him, and were informed that he had gone to Roanoke for medical treatment. Mr. Thomas Adkins, wife and children are in New York City visiting relatives and attending the horse show. They will return in about ten days.

TAKE Wall Street as a background. Then let some master-hand, who knows the stories of high finance "from the inside," paint in the figures with bold strokes of realism—using the whole range of contrast, from soul-stirring romance to heart-breaking tragedy—and you will have a word-picture which for vivid, compelling interest cannot be equaled.

Thomas W. Lawson

has done this—as he alone can do it—in his first fiction story, Friday the 13th, which begins in

Everybody's Christmas Number

Mr. Lawson, as the author of "Frenzied Finance" and "The Crime of Amalgamated," is known to every reader of EVERYBODY'S—and to the country at large. They remember that it was impossible to buy copies of the magazine on the stands after the date of publication and that single copies were jealously passed from hand to hand.

In Friday the 13th, Mr. Lawson, entering the field of fiction for the first time, has produced a tale which will make the reader ask, "Is it founded on fact?" "Are the characters drawn from life?" "And if so, who are they?" We cannot answer those questions, except to say that in this new creative field Mr. Lawson's wonderfully versatile mind has for a time turned from
